Celebrating Advancements in Academic Studies of Jainism and Their Sustenance Globally

ISJS was established in 2005 to promote academic studies of Jainism globally. Since its inception, it has trained over 1000 scholars and students from 315 universities primarily from North America, Europe, Asia and Africa. ISJS also organized twelve seminars and workshops, published twelve books, over 100 papers, started an ONLINE quarterly journal and a fortnightly Online newsletter. As a result, Academic studies of Jainism is now flourishing in more than 50 universities of North America, Europe, Asia. Papers and sessions on Jainism now occupy prominence in universities and meetings of Association of American Religion teachers USA.

To further support this growth and its sustenance, ISJS started several new initiatives, like:

- ❖ Bhagwan Mahavira fellowship in Prakrit Studies: Nine months program in English to train English speaking scholars learn Prakrit, language of Jain scriptures. 4th batch under training now.
- ❖ Develop Online dictionary of Prakrit language in English.
- ❖ Support presentation of paper on Anekantavada at Oxford University by an Indian student.
- ❖ Bhagwan Naminath Fellowship to enhance research and writing skills of young emerging scholars of Jainism in India.
- ❖ Established first Centre for teaching Jain archeology at prestigious Deccan College Pune.
- ❖ Establish annual awards for best paper and book published in English.
- ❖ ISJS owners, Amar Prerana Trust is setting up the largest museum cum knowledge centre of Jain philosophy, history and culture in Pune India.
